TO ALL CLEMSON MEN IN THE ARMED FORCES, THE BRAVE SOLDIERS WHO ARE FIGHTING OUR BATTLE, CIVILIZA-
TION'S BATTLE, WE DEDICATE THIS, THE THIRTY-SIXTH EDITION
OF "Taps."

THESE BOYS FOR FOUR YEARS LIVED AND STUDIED AT CLEMSON AND LEARNED TO LOVE IT AS WE HAVE. THEY WERE PEACEFUL MEN, WANTING ONLY TO LEAD PEACEFUL LIVES IN THIS LAND OF FREEDOM AND PEACE. THEY WANTED ONLY TO LIVE AS THEY HAD PLANNED TO LIVE, WANTED ONLY THE RIGHTS FOR WHICH THE GLORIOUS NAME "AMERICA" STANDS.

WAR-LIKE MEN CAME AND DESTROYED THEIR DREAMS,
MADE THEM FIGHT FOR THEIR TREASURED RIGHTS, MADE THEM KILL IN DEFENSE OF THEIR WAY OF LIVING, MADE SOME OF THEM DIE WHILE FIGHTING TO SAVE ALL CIVILIZATION
FROM AN AGE OF DARKNESS. AND THEY SHALL CONTINUE
UNFLINCHINGLY TO DIE UNTIL SUCH A SALVATION IS MANI-
FEST. . . . IT IS LITTLE INDEED THAT WE SHOULD DEDICATE
A MERE BOOK TO THEM. WE OFFER ALSO THAT WE SHALL SOON BE WITH THEM, FIGHTING SHOULDER TO SHOULDER
THIS WAR OF ALL MANKIND.

For Strong Bodies, the Obstacle Course

LEARNING

Clemson's role in the nation's vast plans for waging war is an important one. America looks to such schools as our own for a majority of the trained officers so desperately needed now. We are proud to say that we are carrying our share of the burden.

Experienced army men instruct us.
Juniors learn about machine guns.
Tactical problems in the spring.
Parades foster discipline and interest in the military.
Something new, the "walkie-talkies."

HOW TO FIGHT

There is an estimated total of 3,000 Clemson men in the armed forces today, the major part of them ranked as second lieutenants or higher. This year, come June, we shall graduate 350 more well-trained second lieutenants to the infantry. Many more men have already joined or will join the other services.

The photos on these two pages will give a general picture of the military activities on the campus. Here we see how the cadets learn the rudiments of close and extended order drill and the more technical problems of operating and repairing machine guns, mortars, rifles, etc. Our periods of theory cover every phase of military science from mess management to actual combat tactics. All instruction is under the direct supervision of experienced army officers.

Foreword...

It is impossible that a complete narrative and pictorial review of a Clemson scholastic year be represented within the narrow confines of a yearbook's cover. It is only possible that we hit the high spots of the term and highlight those things that spell to the average student, "CLEMSON". This we hope we've accomplished in the publication of this thirty-sixth edition of "TAPS".

Faculty, alumni, and especially students, let this be your record of the college year, your personal album of photos and fond memories of happy days at Clemson. We hope our efforts represented herein merit your approval. You are the judge; if your critique is favorable, "TAPS 1943" is a successful annual.

THE PRESIDENT

DR. R. F. POOLE

Dr. Poole is completing his third and most successful year as Clemson's president. He came to us three years ago to lead the school through the most critical period of its history and his leadership has been all the hour could ask. He has been quick to give the students sound advice on the many problems that are born of such times and has also attended the countless details of his office with a conscientiousness that only those very near him can appreciate. Dr. Poole is even now doing many things for the college that others have long dreamed of doing but never did.

No one could be better qualified for the president's office than Dr. Poole. He has a national reputation as an agricultural scientist, having done considerable research in plant pathology. He graduated from Clemson with the Class of 1916—and naturally is vitally interested in the welfare of his Alma Mater.

THE BUSINESS MANAGER MR. J. C. LITTLEJOHN

Mr. Littlejohn's job as Clemson's Business Manager is one of tremendous responsibility. It is he who must see that we students get the most for our dollars and he has always done a good job of it, handling the complex financial matters of the school with a quiet and efficient ease.

We students are interested in Mr. Littlejohn primarily because of his interest in the publications: "Taps," "The Tiger," and others. He keeps us on the straight and narrow insofar as finances are concerned. Mr. Littlejohn's honorary memberships in Blue Key, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi are ample evidence of his popularity with the students.

THE BUSINESS OFFICE STAFF

Mr. Littlejohn, Mrs. W. T. Brightwell, Mrs. R. R. Ritchie, Mr. Hill

MR. HAMILTON HILL

Mr. Hill is Assistant Business Manager and Director of Student Activities. The greater part of his work is with the business office but he is keenly interested in all the student publications; is godfather to all the "Taps" boys.

Riggs Hall, or the "Engine House," as it is popularly known, houses the departments of Architecture, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, and Mechanical Engineering. Courses related to Chemical Engineering are also offered.

Here, in an air of the intensely scientific, cadets may be seen at any time of day and even at night laboring over a drawing board, listening to a humming dynamo or a sputtering gasoline motor, or testing in tension or torsion of some building material. They are the technicians of tomorrow and the rigid program through which Dean

Earle and an excellent staff pace them has produced some of the nation's best engineers.

But the day isn't always a grind of design problems, electricity reports, or steam labs. There are always the interesting activities of Tau Beta Pi, Minarets, ASME and their banquets. And such personable instructors as "Wee Willie" Klugh, "Pop" Lee, and others add a bit of color and interest to the periods of theory. The engineers and architects are a rollicking lot but they are serious in the knowledge that they and their kind are essential to the nation's peace-time or war-time existence.

SCHOOL OF

Clemson was first conceived as an agricultural school and today the School of Agriculture stands as the fulfillment of the dream of Thomas G. Clemson. Here in spacious, modern Long Hall, boys from every county in the state and many outsiders are learning the newest things in every phase of agriculture and allied courses.

These boys learn soils and fertilizers, animal husbandry, horticulture, farm machinery, dairying, agricultural economics, and plenty more. The campus is their classroom, all 10,000 acres of it.

The ag. boys gain a maximum of actual experience. Out in the fields they do the very things they learn in the periods of theory. And they have a great deal of fun too. Such instructors as "Big Ben" Goodale, Professors Bing and Aull keep them in good humor. And rumor has it that there are plenty of stenographers over there too.

Clemson's lint-heads can boast of one of the largest and perhaps the best textile school in the country. Theirs is one of the great industries in this, the land of cotton, and a check of the records of the graduates will reveal that many have become leaders in it. In the spacious quarters of the beautiful new textile building, 300 cadets are learning to analyze fabrics, to test dyes, to understand the miraculous operation of their machinery, to run off design on very complicated looms, and to do the many other things that make of them good textile men.

Some of these boys experience a bit of rough weaving in "Bud" Cartee's analysis, Walter's "Leeno," or Cost Finding under Professor Campbell, but usually they work hard in hopes of making Phi Psi, the national honorary textile fraternity. This year the school has lost several instructors to the services, but has maintained a high standard nevertheless.

In the pleasant atmosphere of the old Main Building we find the general science boys, the fellows who supposedly learn just a little bit of everything.

These boys undoubtedly have a swell time at Clemson. Whether they are to become lawyers, doctors, journalists, economists, or just filling station operators, the courses aren't very hard. The hours are good too.

GENERAL SCIENCE

We can count among the faculty of the General Science department some of the finest gentlemen on the campus. Few students could escape unscathed the magnetic personalities of such men as Dr. Daniel, John Lane, Dr. Taylor, and the humor man, "Doc" Green, to mention a few.

We boys shall always hold in fond memory "Doc" Taylor's "little devil," Ward's lectures, the snooze in the Bradley class, and Professor Holmes' tales of Calhoun. We have enjoyed immensely our classes with these men and wish we had more like them.

CHEMISTRY

This school is one of the oldest on the campus and by the work of an excellent staff of instructors, has maintained one of the highest scholastic standards.

According to the chemistry boys, they are subjected to the toughest quizzes imaginable. Dr. "Rocks" geology, Carodemus' organic, and Pollard's courses were never known to be "crips." They seem to have their fun, however, with such personable instructors as Professor Hodge and others around.

The Vocational Education School is one of the smaller departments at Clemson. The students here are a closely knit unit that get a very maximum in the way of practical education.

Although the majority of the classes are held in the departmental headquarters, the boys have classes all over the campus, the Main Building, Riggs Hall, the Textile

In the junior year, those students aspiring to become teachers, daily journey over to the grade schools of Pickens and Calhoun to teach the children. Here they get valuable practical experience.

The hours are good and the courses aren't too hard. The vocational education boys have a "swell" time at Clemson.

Certainly one of the most vitally important departments at Clemson these days is that of Military Science. Here, under the direct supervision of Colonel Pool's staff of army officers we learn the theory and the application of the means for defeating the Jap and Hun.

Since the fateful December seventh of last year the cadet corps has taken a new interest in all military activities. As an added incentive for good work, we have, upon graduation, the prospect of a commission as second lieutenant in the infantry.

MILITARY SCIENCE

The military classes are thoroughly stimulating and enjoyable. The seniors have much fun in the classes of that grand soldier, Colonel Sims; have tough quizzes under Captain Barber. Lieutenants Hill and Breazeale have a way with the underclassmen, but Lieutenant McMillan has his hands full on drill days with the special units boys.

A little publicized but very important cog in the Clemson machine is the Extension Service. This organization compiles all information, old and new, on agriculture and allied fields and relays it to all interested persons throughout the state. With Mr. Watkins in charge, this department has been of tremendous service to South Carolina.

The headquarters of the Extension Service is the agricultural building, Long Hall. An office staff is maintained here. A field force tours the state weekly giving advice and information directly to the agriculturalists. Additional information is distributed by way of literature prepared here at Clemson and mailed out by the headquarters staff.

SENIOR COUNCIL

The Senior Council is a disciplinary committee of eleven seniors, all elected by popular vote except senior class officers, who become members automatically.

The enforcement of the Clemson military regulations is the principal function of this body. They try and impose sentences on any cadet guilty of a breach of discipline. The Council also acts as the "voice of the corps," petitioning the administrative authorities upon any worthy cause.

The men comprising the Senior Council are all recognized leaders in the cadet corps. We are sure of a just and sympathetic treatment of any problem that may arise.

Graduation Day

In September of 1939 we first ventured into the ancient halls of the old main building, blissfully unaware of the hard work that the following four years were to bring. We were also unaware of the exciting good times that would be ours and the lasting friendships we were to make.

Half eagerly, half fearfully, we accepted the heavy rifle that was given us, the moderate hazing meted out by the sophs, and the great heap of text books "Doc" McCollum sold us. We had some consolation in the fact that Dr. Poole and Colonel Pool were also starting out as freshmen, in their respective posts as President and Commandant, of course.

After that never-to-be-forgotten "rat" year when we saw Jess Neely's great Cotton Bowl team and All-American Banks McFaddin in action, we found ourselves successively gaining the astronomical status of Sophomore and Junior. With these treasures came greater responsibilities and hard work, in scholastics as well as in the military.

Now, almost miraculously, we find ourselves seniors, seniors with as little knowledge of what the future holds as was our knowledge of Clemson itself on that first day four years ago. We find ourselves in a world of hate and fear and lust and blood, a world at war, but we are unafraid. We have learned to live as civilized men, but we can fight as well as the barbarian if we must to save the good things of life.

We are leaving this school we have learned to love to become soldiers, but ours is the conviction that the things learned here will help us meet successfully any trials, whether they be on the battlefield or in the happy days that are sure to come.

A Bite to Eat Enroute to Lynchburg

Comes the last big year and the seniors come into their own, begin to live this Clemson to the fullest as graduation day looms nearer and nearer.

On these pages we see the boys in some of their happier moods, down town at "George's", on football trips, at the games, with the little girl on a week-end, or just wherever they might be.

ABOUT SOPHS

Some of Them Get Mail

A Soph Gets a Pooling

Freshman New Boy!

The jump from rat to upperclassman is a pretty momentous one for most sophomores. To find themselves on the other end of "new boy" calls and paddles is a quite pleasant change over the previous busy freshman term. Some of the happier aspects of this new life are pictured on these pages.

The second year is also one of added responsibilities, especially in the military. The sophs learn to drill squads and, occasionally, a platoon; learn to give orders rather than receive them.

RAT LIFE

The doings of the freshmen are the most colorful aspect of Clemson cadet life. Serving as post-office orderlies, "wake-up" orderlies and hall details are not easy chores for the freshmen, but they have their quota of fun with it all.

After about two months in the cadet uniform a freshman is a confirmed and experienced "beat-out." By that time he has learned to steer clear of his upper-classman when he suspects there is some little errand to be done and he knows how to elude the broom-swinging sophomore.

THE MILITARY

The

Military...

The Commandant

Colonel Pool came to Clemson as Commandant in September, 1939, and has steered us through the most critical days of the school's history with a far-sighted efficiency that leaves nothing to be desired.

As a cadet at Texas A. & M. College, where he graduated with a degree in Civil Engineering, Colonel Pool held the rank of Brigade Commander. After joining the regular army in 1911 he served as instructor in the Infantry School of Arms and the Infantry School at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and Fort Benning, Georgia. In 1925 and 1926, the Colonel studied advanced military courses at various army schools, finished the Army War College in 1931. Prior to his appointment as Commandant here, he served two years on foreign duty.

Colonel Pool has never been regarded as a harsh disciplinarian, nor has he been criticized for his leniency. Employing subtle and wholly practical methods he has raised the military standard at Clemson to an all-time high peak. In so doing, the Colonel has acquired the deepest respect and admiration of the cadet corps. We are fortunate in having so keen a military scholar and experienced soldier to command us.

COLONEL H. M. POOL
Commandant

LT.-COLONEL J. V. SIMS

CAPTAIN R. L. NORRELL

These men, regular army officers, comprise the department of Military Science at Clemson. The commissioned officers teach military theory to the cadet corps. The staff as a whole supervise all military activities on the campus. The majority of these officers were called to Clemson directly from active duty.

Mr. L. L. Cooler
Associate and Art Editor
1943 TAPS
Clemson, South Carolina

Dear Mr. Cooler:

It was a pleasure to judge the beauty section of the 1943 TAPS.

The girls whose photographs you submitted are all extremely attractive, and I only wish first place could have been given to each of them. However, as I'm sure you realize, it is very difficult to be a fair judge of a girl's true personality from photographs alone. If I had been able to see and talk with the contestants, I would have been better able to appraise their potentialities. My choice of the seven winners is based on (a) the features and contours of their faces, (b) their apparent intelligence and alertness, and (c) their feminine charm. Naturalness not glamour, is my criterion of a young lady's attractiveness.

The winners are:

- (1) Miss Dottie O'Neal
- (2) Miss Henrietta Hampton
- (3) Miss Joy McHugh
- (4) Miss Alice Palmer
- (5) Miss Gladys Lipscomb
- (6) Miss Catherine Eve Nickolson
- (7) Miss Carolyn Hendricks

If any of the contestants are ever in New York, I hope they will come in to our office; I would be happy to meet and talk with all of them.

Congratulations to you, to the beauty contest candidates, and to all the members of the 1943 TAPS; with kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,

John Robert Powers

Clemson's nine or ten dances per year have gained the reputation of being the best in South Carolina. The fact that we have in excess of four hundred girls up for some of the bigger balls provides ample proof of their popularity.

The Central Dance Association has always obtained the best music available for these dances, the jitterbugs' and jive hounds' own version of heaven. These and the following photos will give a general picture of what they do with it.

THE CHIEF

Coach Howard took over the coaching reins in 1940 when Jess Neely left Clemson for Rice Institute. In the 1940 season, the Howard-coached Tigers won the Southern Conference Championship, the first time a South Carolina team had turned the trick. Since that banner year the Clemson football record hasn't been quite so good, but the "Country Gentlemen" could always be counted on to give an interesting and, often, spectacular exhibition. Much credit is due Coach Howard for an excellent three-year coaching job.

The Block "C" Club is the top-ranking athletic organization on the campus. The members are those students who have won letters in one or more of the major sports. These boys are a rollicking lot, well known for their athletic prowess, rough initiations, and "social activities."

The cadet corps is indebted to this club for the favorable publicity they have brought the school. Many of the men have made the sports headlines in the nation's leading newspapers.

CLEMSON	7	6	13	6—32
PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE	6	0	0	7—13

The season opener with Presbyterian College was, as usual, a hotly-contested one with the Tigers again victorious. The Country Gentlemen ran up a total of 414 yards rushing, to the Fighting Hosemen's 152, and 17 first downs to the opponent's 10.

The first quarter was featured by the brilliant 75-yard touchdown jaunt of "Butch" Butler. P. C., however, came roaring back, passing and running to trail by only one point, 7 to 6. The speed boy, "Monty" Byers, scored beautifully from the 17-yard line in the second quarter.

Again in the fourth period, Butler broke away for a score; was followed shortly by Sweatte who climaxed a 52-yard sustaining drive by going over from the three. Midway of this last quarter, a pass from Norton to Adams was good for a P. C. score, but Clemson led 26 to 13. Butler scored again in the closing minutes of the game and the Tigers wound up with a 32 to 13 victory.

Our team revealed several glaring weaknesses in this season curtain-raiser, but gave promise of rounding into good form as the season progressed.

V. M. I.	0	0	0	0—0

On a rain-soaked field at Lynchburg, Va., the Tigers and The Virginia Military Institute played to a 0-0 stalemate.

According to the statistics, Clemson was the superior of the hard-fighting Virginia eleven. Our team gained eight first downs to the opponent's one and had a slight edge in all the other departments. The Country Gentlemen got within V. M. I.'s 10-yard line once, but couldn't muster the strength to carry the pigskin over. A feature of the game was the stopping of V. M. I.'s great Joe Muha who has been touted for All-American honors.

Wright, Stacy, Clark, and Hunter gave a good account of themselves in the line. "Hawk" Craig and "Butch" Butler played a rugged backfield game. The play of the team as a whole seemed much improved over that of the previous week. Coach Howard was well-pleased with the performance of the sophomores who gave promise of rounding quickly into mid-season form.

WOLFPACK DOWNS THE TIGERS

CLEMSON	0	6	0	0—6
N. C. STATE	0	7	0	0—7

For the first time in ten years of gridiron rivalry, the Tigers bowed in defeat to a superior Wolfpack eleven. This Charlotte classic was, as usual, a hard-fought struggle, but North Carolina State proved somewhat better than in some previous years while the Clemson team was not quite as good.

At the outset the Country Gentlemen found themselves on the defensive and there they stayed for the greater part of the game. A phenomenal exhibition of punting by North Carolina's Teague and Faircloth, time and again, pushed the Tigers deep into their own territory.

On a sustained drive, the Wolfpack scored first, in the second quarter. Teague's conversion was good. The Tigers bounded back with a touchdown of their own, but the kick from placement was unsuccessful and the North Carolinians led 7-6. After these two scoring thrusts the two teams settled into a nip and tuck struggle with neither again hitting pay dirt.

Captain Charlie Wright, "Hawk" Craig, and "Chip" Clark played well for Clemson.

CLEMSON	7	0	0	0—7
BOSTON COLLEGE	0	0	7	7—14

Our boys played perhaps their best game of the season in holding the highly heralded Boston College eleven to a one touchdown margin of victory. Pre-contest prognosticators had forecast an overwhelming victory for the sharp-taloned Eagle over a supposedly docile Tiger. Their predictions were wrong in that they had not taken into account the fighting spirit of the out-manned and outweighed Country Gentlemen. But for a bit of ill luck the Tigers might have won by one touchdown.

Clemson led at the half, 7 to 0, but in the third period allowed a stray pass to fall into the hands of B. C.'s Mickey Connelly who raced 85 yards for the score. Boston recovered a fumble on Clemson's 23-yard line in the last quarter and from there drove for the winning touchdown.

Charlie Wright played an outstanding game in the line for the Bengals. Butler and Craig played their usual rugged brand of football.

REVENGE FOR THE TIGERS

CLEMSON	0	6	6	6—18
SOUTH CAROLINA	0	6	0	0—6

To the delight of all Clemson supporters the State Fair classic resulted in an 18 to 6 win for the victory-hungry Tiger over the ever-aggressive Gamecock. This game, played before a capacity crowd of 23,000 fans, proved to be one of the most exciting of the year. Neither team could claim an advantage until the final whistle was sounded.

The Gamecock scored first, in the second quarter, on the vicious line bucks of Ken Roskie. The aroused Tiger immediately unleashed an aerial attack that tied the count, 6 to 6. Stacy caught the touchdown pass thrown by Butler.

In the third period, Butler again connected, this time throwing to Clark to give Clemson a 12 to 6 lead. In the fourth quarter, our well-organized line broke Butler into the open for a 64-yard dash for the score. This most sensational play of the game was the last score, giving the Tigers an 18 to 6 margin of victory.

The entire team played desperately in gaining this sweet revenge for last season's loss to the Gamecock.

THE DEACONS BREAK A JINX

CLEMSON	6	0	0	0—6
WAKE FOREST	0	6	7	6—19

In a night game at Raleigh, the Tigers, for the first time in several years lost to the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest. The score was 19-6.

The Tigers held their own for the first half, making six points to the Deacons' six. However, in the third period, the strength of the Wake Forest reserves began to tell. Johnny Perry and Red Cochran were the big guns for the Deacons in this last half, the latter scoring on a 58-yard run in the third period.

The Tigers played hard and well in their futile attempt to stop the North Carolinians. Butler and Marbury were outstanding for Clemson. Marbury scored the only Tiger touchdown in the first quarter after a series of passes carried the ball to the three-yard stripe. The Tigers might have fared better but for the acute lack of reserves, of which the Deacons, on the other hand, had plenty.

COLONIALS SPRING A SURPRISE

GEORGE WASHINGTON	0	0	0	7—7

Clemson lost to the George Washington Colonials in one of the most disappointing games of the season. The Tigers made 18 first downs to George Washington's 5, and gained a total of 256 yards to the opponent's 60. They gained almost at will until near the enemy's goal. There the drives would invariably bog down.

The Tigers had the ball in scoring position several times, but lacked the power to take it over. When the half ended, Clemson was on the G. W. two-yard marker. The only Colonial tally came when Weber intercepted one of Butler's tosses to cross the goal line standing up.

The best performance of the day was turned in by the consistently brilliant Marion Craig. The "Hawk's" blocking was devastating and he seemed to be in on almost every tackle. The game could easily have been Clemson's had the Tigers been a little less erratic in their play.

TIGERS LOSE AT JACKSONVILLE

CLEMSON	0	0	0	6	—	6
JACKSONVILLE	0	6	0	18	—	24

The Tigers met the strong Jacksonville Air Base team in Jacksonville and lost by a 24-6 score. The statistics said the Tigers were nearly the equal of the servicemen but the score indicated something else.

Jacksonville scored in the second period on a well-executed reverse pass, McAfee to Gloden. There were no more touchdowns until the last quarter when Jacksonville scored three. Bill Chiply, former Clemson star, caught a pass for the first one. The next came as the result of a blocked Clemson punt which the Jax center recovered and scored from the 22-yard line. The final Jacksonville tally came as a gift when Fisher threw one into the hands of an enemy lineman.

The Tigers' only score came after an 80-yard drive which was climaxed by a Butler-to-Clark pass into the end zone. Clemson might have fared better but for the absence of injured Byers, Mimms, and McCown.

TIGERS DEFEAT AN OLD RIVAL

CLEMSON	6	0	0	6—12
FURMAN	0	0	0	7—7

In the big home-coming day clash, Clemson again downed the Furman Hurricane, this time by the tune of 12-7. These bitter rivals played a bruising game that was anybody's until the very last minute.

In the first quarter the Tigers took the ball quickly down the field on beautifully executed plays. Butler went over from the one-yard line. The try for the extra point failed and Clemson led 6-0. Neither team scored again until Furman recovered a fumble deep in Clemson territory and passed into the end zone for a score. The conversion was good and the Hurricane led 7-6.

Things looked bad for the Tigers until "Monty" Byers took charge. He threw a beautiful aerial to "Chip" Clark for the winning touchdown. The try for the extra point again failed but the Tigers walked off with a 12-7 win.

The whole Clemson team played heads up football to win this thrill-packed game. "Admiral Dewey" Proctor was outstanding for Furman.

AUBURN AGAIN DOWNS THE TIGERS

CLEMSON	0	6	0	7—13
AUBURN	7	20	7	7—41

In the season finale, the great Auburn team continued its winning ways by handing us a crushing 41-13 defeat. The Tigers played a stubborn game but were no match for the team that had, the previous week, beaten Georgia decisively. Craig, who scored both Tiger touchdowns, was outstanding for Clemson. Reynolds was voted the day's best for Auburn.

The Tigers held the Plainsmen at bay for most of the first quarter, but finally surrendered a touchdown. In the second period Auburn tallied three more while Craig scored for Clemson after a pass, Butler to Stacy, had placed the ball in position.

Auburn scored a touchdown in each of the last two quarters. The Country Gentlemen came back with seven points in the closing moments of the game.

Thus the Tigers concluded a mediocre season. Their record was not an impressive one but they could always be counted on to give an interesting and often spectacular exhibition. But for the inconsistency of the inexperienced sophs, many of the near-wins might be recorded in the victory column.

The Cubs undoubtedly would have graduated many more fine players to the varsity had they been able to remain in school.

In the opener, the Cubs downed P. C. 7 to 0, with "Hoochie" Morgan scoring the winning touchdown. The Cubs also won the second encounter from Daniels Field, 6 to 0. Olin Cleveland scored for Clemson.

The Carolina Biddies downed the Cubs in the third game, an exciting and bruising one. In the final game, Georgia's great freshman team downed the Cubs 30 to 6. The game was a hard fought one in spite of the big score.

WITH THE TIGER CAGEMEN

The Tiger basketballers, 1943 model, had a somewhat disappointing season, winning three games while losing fifteen. Even so, the team could always be counted upon to give an interesting exhibition. On occasions they played magnificent basketball and gave promise of rounding into a first-class team.

Coach Norman was handicapped at the outset by the loss by graduation of some of last year's stars and by the induction, during the season, of some of the promising young players. However, several individual stars presented themselves. "Hawk" Craig, who scored 208 points during the season to lead the state scoring and rank among the top in the conference, played a superb all-round game. Riley also amassed an impressive total score. Sears, one of the best ball handlers to grace a Clemson court in some time, played a very good floor game, as did Captain Moise and Gillespie. Lambrakos and Hill, although irregular starters, played well and made their share of field goals.

Most of the home games were fast and exciting as the Tigers usually kept the score pretty much in doubt until the final whistle. But for a few unfortunate breaks, several of the near wins would have been recorded in the Clemson victory column.

Up in the Air With Wake Forest

BASKETBALL

The Tigers opened the season in winning style, downing Erskine 42-22, with "Stick" Riley leading the scoring with ten points. The game was fast and substitutions frequent.

In the second game, N. C. State proved a tarter, nosing out Clemson by a 48 to 40 score. "Hawk" Craig scored 16 points, a sample of the scoring punch he was to exhibit throughout the season.

Wake Forest routed the Tigers 71 to 56 in a wild-scoring game. Craig and Riley tallied frequently for Clemson, Hinerman and Mitchell for the Deacons. In the next game the Tigers broke into the win column again, trouncing P. C. 48 to 44. Craig, Freeny, Moise, Clark and Lambrakos played well for Clemson.

Our boys continued their winning ways against Wofford, defeating the latter 54 to 45. Riley, Craig, Sears, and Moise were the high scorers.

In the next game, the Tiger quintet lost to P. C. 44 to 49, in spite of the high scoring of Craig and Riley. Lambrakos and Hill played good floor games. N. C. State followed with a 69 to 34 win over the Tigers who started off at a fast clip which they couldn't maintain. Craig and Riley again were the Clemson high scorers as were Mack and Morris for N. C. State.

1942-'43 SEASON

The hapless Tigers lost the next game to the University of North Carolina, 52 to 32. Both teams substituted freely in this fast and free-scoring game.

Clemson next journeyed down to Columbia only to lose to South Carolina 48 to 30. Sears and Craig were high scorers for the Tigers, Riddle, for the Gamecocks. The Citadel took Clemson in the next encounter, 49 to 35. The Charleston boys held only a slight lead at halftime but forged well ahead in the closing moments of the game.

Georgia Tech won another from the discouraged Tigers, 43 to 32, in a game played in Atlanta. Only a substantial Tech first-half lead kept the Tigers from winning in the second half.

Clemson came home to put on one of the season's best exhibitions in losing to South Carolina, 42 to 40. Behind the deadly shooting of Craig, the Tigers came roaring back in the second period almost to take the game from the Gamecocks who had rolled up a substantial early lead.

Davidson took the next game from Clemson, 53 to 31. Craig and Lambrakos were high scorers for the Tigers, Peters for the Deacons. Wofford won the next 46 to 36 on their own court, avenging an earlier defeat. In the season's finale The Citadel humbled the Tigers 63 to 38 to clinch their bid to the conference tournament.

TRACK

The 1942 track team had a fairly successful season, winning two of the three regular season meets and placing second in the State meet. Beckett, Dickson, Fennell, and Fritts were the outstanding stars of the season. Fennell placed first in the pole vault in every season meet, and set a new record of 13 feet 4 inches at the State tournament. Dickson won consistently in the 100-yard dash, finished in 9.9 seconds against Furman.

Clemson downed Furman 101 to 30 in the first meet, winning every event except the javelin throw. Dickson placed first in the 100 and 200-yard dashes. Beckett took the one and two mile runs. Morgan also scored a double, in the 120-yard and 220-yard hurdles. Fritts took the shot put and discus throws and Ivey the broad jump.

Clemson downed Presbyterian College 71 to 55. Graham won the 440 in the good time of 51.8 seconds. Dickson won the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Morgan won the 120-yard hurdles, and Franklin the 880-yard dash. Fritts won the discus and shot put. Fennell won the pole vault with the excellent leap of 13 feet, 4 inches.

South Carolina handed the Clemson tracksters a 71 to 60 defeat at Columbia. The Gamecocks won most of the dashes, the hurdles, and the weight events. Franklin won the 880-yard dash. Beckett took the mile and two mile runs. Ivey won the broad jump. Fennell placed first in the pole vault at 13 feet, 4 inches. The relay was forfeited to Carolina.

Clemson placed second in the state meet at Clinton with 44 points, although South Carolina won handily with 75½ points. Franklin won the 880-yard dash, setting a new record of 1 minute 58.2 seconds. Fennell, in the pole vault, also set a new record, winning with a magnificent leap of 13 feet, 4 inches. Dickson placed second in the 100, Graham in the 440, and Beckett in the one mile and two mile run.

The activities of this year's rifle team were considerably curtailed by the difficulties of transportation and travel. Only one shoulder to shoulder match was held, this with Georgia Tech. The Tiger sharpshooters were nosed out by a narrow margin.

The team competed in the fourth service command competition with satisfactory success. The boys also competed for the William Randolph Hurst trophy in the spring of this year.

The boys that try for a position on the rifle team receive a type of training that they may well need when they join the armed forces. Clemson is proud of these boys and the record they have made.

INTRAMURALS

Intramural sports have always held a prominent place among the campus activities. This year an even greater interest has been taken in intramural sports. As a recognition of the healthful aspects of physical exercises and games, the college authorities, have, this year instituted a greatly intensified program.

Joe Sherman, as intramural director, supervised a program of basketball, football, and volleyball. The use of the newly completed "obstacle course" was encouraged and a majority of the cadets have run the course with the hope of building up their bodies physically.

The bowling alley for a time sponsored a series of tournaments among the cadet companies. Intramural boxing, which was discontinued last year, was introduced again. A good many mittmen turned out for the exciting bouts.

TAPS STAFF

Now that we've finally published an annual, we are at a loss as to what to say about it. We can't say it's good; we're modest. We can't say it's bad; we don't think it is. We'd better let you do the talking, and we're sure you will.

For about six months we boys pictured here have worked every day and, often quite late at night, trying to put this thing together. Sometimes it was fun; more often it was work, hard work. At first we weren't even sure there would be a "Taps" this year, what with a war going on and everybody's yelling about film and copper shortages. But, in spite of all of our anxieties, we have succeeded in giving you an annual, one which we think compares favorably with the fine Clemson annuals of past years. If you like it, we're glad. If you don't, keep it to yourself. We'll be hard to find.

JUNIOR TAPS STAFF

It is a long recognized custom at Clemson that the juniors relieve the seniors of a great deal of work that must be done in the varied activities on the campus. In keeping with this Clemson tradition the Junior "Taps" staff bears the brunt of the drudgery that goes into the publication of the annual.

Their's is the task of collecting picture fees, preparing copy for the printer and engraver, typing countless ad-soliciting letters, and doing the many other odd jobs. Many dawns find these boys hard at work, getting the copy in shape for a looming printer's dead-line. Many class cuts offer ample evidence of the tremendous amount of work they must do in maintaining Clemson's All-American standard in yearbooks.

These juniors work hard in an effort to land one of the top positions on the next staff. And, for each man that has shown sufficient promise and a willingness to work, there is a just reward. The retiring staff picks the succeeding staff solely on merit.

TAPS IN THE MAKING

The job of publishing an annual of "Taps" proportions is one involving a tremendous amount of hard work little dreamed of by most of the readers.

The "Taps" staff, unlike the annual staffs of most schools, do their own layout work, art, photography, and copy writing. These chores, of course, detract a great deal from curricular activities, but, insofar as "Taps" has been ranked All-American for several years, it is felt the product is worth the effort.

The 1943 "Taps" was born in the summer of 1942 when the original layout was drawn. With the beginning of the school term came the taking of pictures for the class sections and the immediate preparation of copy for the printer and engraver. The succeeding six month were frantic days of drawing, ad-selling, picture-taking, copy-writing, and collecting of fees. The last copy, completing, possibly, another All-American candidate, was ready for printing in early March.

"The Tiger" is Clemson's weekly publication. Often called the South's most interesting college newspaper, "The Tiger" has a circulation of 5,000, the largest in the state.

For several years "The Tiger" was rated "All-American" by the National Scholastic Press Association. At present the staff is in possession of the Wilton E. Hall trophy for being adjudged the outstanding college paper in South Carolina.

Clemson offers no course in journalism, so each "Tiger" man is the product of the painstaking effort of himself, his editor and Professor John D. Lane, faculty advisor. The records of former "Tiger" editors would offer ample evidence of the value of such experience as these "Tiger" men receive. Many of these former editors have graduated into prominent positions in the world of journalism.

In keeping with a Clemson tradition, "The Tiger" is strictly a product of the cadet corps, is subjected to no faculty censorship whatsoever. The aim of the staff is, primarily, the portrayal of the news as the student sees it.

THE STAFF AT WORK

"The Tiger," often called the South's most interesting college newspaper, represents almost a full-time job for the majority of the staff members.

The work of publishing "The Tiger" is a never-ending operation. As soon as one issue is in the hands of the subscribers, the typewriters begin pounding anew as features and columns are made ready for the next week's linotyping. On Monday afternoon and night the editors and junior "stooges" gather to put into print the week's news as it begins to unfold.

Tuesday's work is much the same, with the "heading-up" of stories and the editing amateurish freshman and sophomore reporting, added.

The final dressing-up of "The Tiger" is done Wednesday and Wednesday night. All copy and the lay out is then taken over to the "Independent-Daily Mail" plant in Anderson. There the last-minute details are worked out and another 5,000 copies of the paper are ready for the press.

The circulation staff goes to work on Thursday distributing the newspaper through the barracks and mailing them to the hundreds of subscribers. This year, many "Tigers" are reaching Clemson men in the armed forces. Most of the already-read copies throughout the barracks are gathered and wrapped by the Y. M. C. A. clubs for mailing to our fighting alumni.

THE SLIP STICK

The "Slip Stick" is the technical magazine published by the students in the school of engineering and chemistry. The "Slip Stick" began publication in 1941 and, since that time, has risen to the rank of the number one campus magazine.

The content of the "Slip Stick" is, for the most part, of a technical nature. Many items of news and features of local interest, are also included. At the South Carolina press convention, the "Slip Stick" won a silver cup for its being adjudged the best technical magazine in the state.

The work of publishing the "Slip Stick" is done entirely by the staff. An advisory board consisting mostly of members of the faculty are called upon from time to time to give a constructive criticism of the magazine.

The "Agrarian," published by the agricultural school, is the oldest magazine on the campus. It has an unusually large circulation and has been of great service to the college in that Clemson, through the "Agrarian," has been publicized throughout South Carolina and the South.

The content of the magazine is mostly technical, dealing with specialized activities in the agricultural school and new developments in the field of agriculture. Other features, of local interest, are added also.

The "Agrarian" is strictly a student publication. All staff members were trained by the preceding staff.

The "Bobbin and Beaker," published by the textile students, is the second oldest campus magazine. The journal has a very large circulation and is published three times per year.

The literary content of the "Bobbin and Beaker" deals primarily with the activities in the school of textiles and new developments in the field. The role of the textile industry in the winning of the war has been emphasized this year. Many features and campus news have also been added.

The work of publishing "Bobbin and Beaker" is done almost entirely by the members of Phi Psi, the textile fraternity.

THE Y. M. C. A.

. Social Center

THE Y. M. C. A.

The "Y," the campus social center, continues from year to year to offer to the cadet corps excellent forms of entertainment, recreation, and opportunities for religious training and expression so vitally important in the life of the maturing young student. Through the efforts of Mr. P. B. "Holtzy" Holtzendorff and his staff the "Y" has grown in importance and popularity with the years.

The services of this institution are many. It sponsors all religious activities, is headquarters for the Y. M. C. A. cabinet and the various "Y" councils. Vesper programs often featuring prominent guest speakers, are offered each Sunday. Deputation teams are organized here and, whenever possible, visit other campuses in this and adjoining states.

Two theatres, showing every week day, offer a choice of two first-class movies. A popular feature are the free shows on Friday and Saturday and the travel reels shown on Sundays. At least once during the school term each cadet company and campus organization is treated to an open house with a free movie and entertainment. The pool room and the swimming pool, usually well occupied, are almost as popular as the two theatres. The "Y" is also the headquarters for many intramural sports: football, softball, and basketball.

It would be hard to over-estimate the importance of the Y. M. C. A. The entertainment and recreation, and religious activities it offers are a pleasant respite to the cadets from the usual grind of the scholastic year. The cadet corps is indebted to Mr. Holtzendorff, "Tillie" Heyward, and the entire organization for these services that are to be found on few college campuses.

The Y. M. C. A. Building

To many cadets the Y. M. C. A. building is an institution where they may give expression to their religious feelings; to others it is also a place to play a game of pool or to go swimming. To others it is simply a place to rest in the quiet sanctity of the spacious lounges. But to all Clemson cadets the Y. M. C. A. is a vital and necessary part of the college setup.

The religious programs, the athletic and recreational services, the movies, and the cafeteria and barber shop all make the "Y" the most frequented spot on the campus. It is a place of convention before classes and long roll, headquarters for visiting families and friends, the social axis of Clemson College.

Each of the six seniors of the cabinet is chairman of a committee in charge of religious programs and music and such groups as the Evening Watch, Freshman Forum, and deputation teams.

The cabinet has done an excellent job in promoting an interest in religious activities among the students. They work in conjunction with the Advisory Board in the dispatch of the more important duties.

Blue Key, national honor leadership and service fraternity is recognized as one of the outstanding organizations on the campus. Its members are the leaders of the senior class, having been chosen for their outstanding service to the school, their scholastic rank, and personal character. The group serves as a link between the corps of cadets and the administrative body.

Since its organization, Blue Key has rendered invaluable service to Clemson. The Blue Key Directory published annually by the club is a handy catalogue of every student, his room number, home address, and course of study. It was through the efforts of Blue Key that we have the beautiful statue of Thomas Clemson in front of the Main Building.

Gamma Alpha Mu, local honorary writers' fraternity, was founded in 1933. This long-cherished dream of the late Dr. Enoch W. Sikes came into being through the efforts of Professor John Lane, noted author Octavus Roy Cohen, and Dr. Sikes himself.

Gamma Alpha Mu is unique on the Clemson campus in that genuine ability is the only requisite for membership. Any cadet may try out, submitting fiction, belle-lettres, journalism, or poetry. Dr. Cohen, a Clemson alumnus, is the sole judge. He personally reads and appraises the efforts of each candidate. In 1941, under Dr. Cohen's sponsorship, the Beta Chapter of Gamma Alpha Mu was instituted at The Citadel.

Minarets is the honor fraternity of the school of architecture. Membership is based on character, personality, grade point ratio, and interest in architecture.

The fraternity functions as a semi-professional, semi-social group. "The Minaret Bulletin," containing news of interest to the architectural students, is the official voice of the fraternity. Lectures by prominent professional men and banquets feature the scholastic year.

The promotion of an interest in the study of architecture, and a unity among the students, are the primary aims of Minarets, one of Clemson's more active organizations.

THE TIGER BROTHERHOOD

Clemson's own, the Tiger Brotherhood, was organized in 1928 by a group of student leaders and faculty members as a service and leadership fraternity.

The aim of the members of this organization is to serve the college in any capacity possible and to promote a feeling of mutual understanding between the cadet corps and faculty.

Members of all four classes are represented, being chosen for qualities of character, leadership, and scholarship. Faculty members chosen are those showing a desire to work toward the expressed goals of the organization.

The Calhoun Forensic Society is Clemson's largest and most active forensic organization. It is through this group that Clemson is represented in inter-collegiate debates and declamatory tournaments.

In addition to receiving valuable experience in the art of speaking, the members of the society learn the intricacies of parliamentary procedure since the meetings are carried on in this fashion.

Candidates for membership in Calhoun Forensic Society are chosen for their ability to speak with a measure of success in formal competition.

SIGMA PHI

Sigma Phi is one of Clemson's better known social clubs. The group was organized for the promotion of a lot of big times and a feeling of fraternity among the members.

Intermission parties on dance week ends are a popular feature of their activities.

Membership in Sigma Phi is limited to those students who have attained services in various phases of college life.

The Clemson Chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers is a student branch of the national institute, a professional organization.

In addition to promoting a feeling of unity among the mechanical engineering students, the society's principal goal is to bring the practical side of the profession to the young student. This is achieved mainly through technical literature published by the national society.

All mechanical engineering seniors eligible for graduation are eligible for membership in A. S. M. E. Membership among juniors is based upon scholarship alone.

The American Society of Civil Engineers, instituted in 1852, is the oldest engineering society in the United States. Membership in the Clemson student chapter is open to all sophomore, junior, and senior civil engineering students. To the outstanding graduate the department each year offers the entrance fee for a junior membership in the society.

The society seeks to maintain a high professional standard among its members and to encourage fellowship among men of the field. At Clemson, A. S. C. E. fosters a feeling of united effort and fraternity among the students.

Clemson's student chapter of A. S. A. E. is a branch of the national organization, was instituted here in 1931.

As in the other land-grant colleges in the country, all of whom have chapters of A. S. A. E., the local society promotes interest in agricultural engineering and keeps the members acquainted with the newest developments in the field.

Student membership is based on scholarship, character, and personality.

In Memoriam

BEN ROBERTSON, JR.

BY HIS WORDS—

"By the grace of God . . . a Carolinian . . . with the genuine grace that floods outward from the heart . . . absorbed in the loneliness and happiness of men and women . . . in the kinks of the kinfolks."

Born June 22, 1903, "at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains . . . center of everything and the oldest part of the earth."

"Heaven would be like Carolina in the month of May in the early morning. The sun would never rise more than an hour high, and there would be peace and rest forever."

"Time and again the old Folks have told us . . . we must amount to something . . . we have our duty . . . we must fight against whatever it is that threatens . . ."

"At Dover, I understood Valley Forge and Gettysburg, and I found it lifted a tremendous weight from your spirit to find yourself willing to give up your life if you have to—I discovered Saint Matthew's meaning about losing a life to find it."

"If I am not able to come back from the war I will be sorry, but I will not regret it as we cannot consider our personal lives when the United States is fighting."

". . . a great generation of British people . . . had learned through suffering . . . and I too had learned . . . In the depth of the English blackout I had seen the stars."

Dyestuffs

YESTERDAY and TODAY

TWENTY-FIVE years ago the need for color was urgent. European sources of supply had been shut off and America's textile industry was threatened with a desperate situation unless it could get dyes quickly.

This brought about the birth of a new American industry—dyestuffs. Today, in World War II, the United States has at its command a complete, integrated and self-sufficient organic chemical and dyestuffs industry, supplying great quantities of vital materials essential to the war effort.

Du Pont is proud of the part it has played in the growth and development of this industry. Du Pont dyes and technical skill are helping to speed production of clothing, paper and leather goods, rubber, paint and other products essentially needed on both the military and civilian fronts.

"Taps" . . . just as the bugler here sounds the knell of a parting day, so he heralds the completion of the 1943 Clemson yearbook.

The book, until now, has been ours, our own plaything. We have seen it grow; we have seen each photograph, each writeup, each drawing fit into its rightful place among the 420-odd pages. Now it is yours, your record of the school year. We hope you like it. And we hope that you will keep it near you through the coming years, an ever-fresh supplement to your memories of a happy Clemson life.

. . . This book may be a monument to the Clemson we have known, it may be the last of the elaborate All-American "Taps" we cadets have come to regard as a natural thing. This should be the most cherished "Taps" ever.

. . . THE STAFF.

Although the responsibility of publishing this annual rested primarily with the staff, there are many people whose sound advice and material assistance have contributed greatly to its success:

Mr. J. C. Littlejohn, Clemson's Business Manager, Mr. Hamilton Hill, Assistant Business Manager, Professor John D. Lane, Faculty Advisor, Mr. Joe Sherman, Clemson Publicity Director. Also Mr. Bob Davis of The R. L. Bryan Company, the printers, Miss Helen Morgan of the Photo-Process Engraving Company, and Mr. Marion D. Ware and Mr. Gaspar of Gaspar-Ware Studios, the photographers.
